

After I'm Gone

After I'm Gone,
Do not grieve so,
Or call my name aloud,
Or sit by that mound of earth
And weep.
For I will not be there,
But, I will be in the midst
Of those I loved.
I will smile at you through the Eyes of my relatives,
And you will feel my tender caress
When they embrace you.
When you are troubled
Find peace and warmth there,
In my mother's house.
For these are the things I cherished,
Where my spirits do linger,
I loved them so.
You will find me there.
